(Early Years Coordinator)

'You all are indeed stars; it's just that,
Some from you twinkle a little brighter;
Some from you dazzle a little stronger;
Some from you make the world a little shinier;
Some from you grow a little bigger;
Some from you move a little faster
And some of you go a little further'

Every year EPS hosts an exclusive 'Early Years Award Ceremony' to acknowledge the achievements of our brilliant young students who have made both their teachers and parents proud and taken the school a step closer to accomplish its mission. And this means an immense contribution to our school. These students demonstrate an exemplary character, qualities and skills. Another reason for getting everyone together and felicitating these students is to encourage and inculcate competitive spirit in each and every EPSite to follow and create a distinct path, as the school ensures a healthy, fair and competitive environment which gives equal opportunity to help everyone grow and realize their maximum potential. Moreover it isn't about winning, it's about excelling ourselves.

The 'EY Award Ceremony 2017-18', which was held on 13th April 2018, turned out decently successful, well-attended and well-timed programme. The day reflected the 'Islamic' as well as state of the art learning culture of EPS. The ceremony was dotted with beautiful performances by our young Muslims, Indians and EPSites, all in one.

EPS Director Mr. Umar Jaffar, Islamic Studies Head Mr. Javed and PE HoD Mr. Faheem did the honours of giving away the Awards and certificates in various categories including 'Islamic Excellence' and sports.

These moments will remain etched in the memories of our students and will guide them to remain committed, work hard and persevere through every challenge, personal or professional and come out with flying colours.

Early Years Sports Day 2017 - 18

Fozia Mehfooz
(Early Years Coordinator)

Play, in early childhood is a serious business whether it is functional, constructive, dramatic, indoor or outdoor games and sports with rules. Through participation in sports and games children gain an understanding and recognition of personal strength and limitations as well as ability to cope successfully with challenging physical and emotional situations. Sports Day, is a great opportunity for IB EY educators to observe and record, as the students demonstrate various degrees and shades of IB Learner Profiles, during their interaction with team mates, competitors and audience, in a relevant and realistic context.

The early years' students poured all their enthusiasm and energy to win the challenging races – Ball-Pool, Sack Race, Hop & Skip, Baby Crawl & Roll and Chair Hurdle Race; and to celebrate achievements, personal and those of others.

Winner or not, every child had great fun and learning of sorts.
