The grand-angels of our lives

“Grandparents are the family's greatest treasure, the founders of a loving legacy, the greatest storytellers, keepers of tradition and family's strong foundation. Through their special love and care, they keep a family close at heart. As a part of inquiry students of grade 1, celebrated Grandparents Day with abundance of respect and admiration.” Saniya Naeem - HRT Grade 1 A

A special event was organized for the grandparents of grade 1 students. The programme began with a special welcome with red rose saplings presented by the kids to welcome all grandparents. Keeping up with the culture of EPS we began the event with surah recitation followed by a beautiful nasheed performance on “My Mother” showing love, respect and importance of a mother in our lives. Many power packed performances by the students like, urdu skit (Dadu Ka Chashma) and a hindi poem (Dadi Amma, Dadi Amma Maan Jaao) left the spectators spellbound and thoroughly mesmerized.

The debate on “Today's Era v/s Ancient Era” was cherry on the top. They also shared some mesmerizing moments of their childhood and relived their childhood with everyone. Wrapping up the performances our kids thanked their Grandpas and Grandmas for their love and support by their cute performance on a “Thank You Song”. Some exciting games of Today's Era and Ancient Era were also organized for grandparents. After all the fun filled performances, grandparents and children were invited to have fun on different interactive games stations. We served “Chulhe Ki Chai” to them which they loved.

Students prepared greeting cards and a photo frame for their grandparents as a token of love. The children were very excited to see their grandparents participate in the games and cheered them wholeheartedly. The grandparents were very sporty and brought out the child in them through their active participation. The fond affection for their grandchildren reflected in the very fact that they held the hands of their respective grandchild while performing some of the games. The children seemed like a motivation factor for everyone to give their best. All the games were thoughtfully planned by the teachers so as to make the special day memorable for all the grandparents. The success of the event was evident through the joyful smiles and teary eyes of the grandparents as they were overwhelmed to see their grandchildren performing for them.

To be Surprised, to Wonder, is to Begin to Understand.

Crime Never Pays Back!

Madiha Arshad - Grade XI A

The world is full of obvious things, which no one ever fully observes.

Today as we soar towards the heights of development, we are taken under the depth of crimes and misconduct. Due to highly modernized gadgets, the criminals have become nearly invincible, and it is only through scientific investigation and the critical analysis of investigators that the ever-growing darkness of criminality is being curbed.

The students of grade XI shed light on these issues through the highly anticipated Crime Scene, held on January 26.

The day started with an eerie ghost infiltrating the land, which quickly sparked the curiosity of the audience, who were oblivious to what was about to come! The audience was quickly escorted to the multipurpose hall, where they were greeted with a hanging corpse modelled by the students, colourful yet scandalous stations set up by the students.

The event began, a mystery to be unfolded both the students, teachers, and the audience was captivated by the storyline. The audience were glued to their seats, till the enthralling performance ended.

The process of how the investigation and scientific analysis takes place was outlined and made easy for the audience to understand. Through this event, we also shed light on important social issues such as suicide and excessive addiction of technology, and its adverse effects.

Towards the end, the audience visited different stations and asked questions about the process of scientific investigation, and how immensely science has contributed to making justice common.

The event was a day to remember and cherish, it brought smiles on the faces of audience. The tremendous hard work and efforts by the teachers and students paid off well.
